

WEATHER FORECAST:

Fair; frost tonight.
Full Report Page Four.

NUMBER 7776.

Yesterday's Circulation, 50,660

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY EVENING, APRIL 6, 1913.

Twenty Pages

PRICE ONE CENT

The Washington Times

Sunday Evening
EDITION

CONSUMER WILL HAVE HIS CHANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Ultimate Are Asked to Step Up to Counter of Tariff Benefits.

UNDERWOOD BILL IS READY

Democrats Make Stab at Their Promise to Reduce Cost of Living in Nation.

By THEODORE TILLER.
The Underwood bill is ready and Mr. and Mrs. Ultimate Consumer will kindly step up to the tariff counter and call for a reduced cost of living. Will they get it? Framers of the Underwood bill, with its imposing free list, think they will. Republicans who are still true to the Payne law and protection see in the near future park benches filled with the unemployed, thin pay envelopes, lengthened bread lines, soup houses, and general woe.

The Ultimate Consumer has heard these conflicting claims since tariffs were first made. The main question confronting him today is:

What Is the Benefit.

"How am I going to benefit through this new tariff revision? Will it be the same old story?"

The rates of the Democratic tariff bill have not been officially announced but an authentic analysis of the essentials of the proposed measure demonstrate that the Democrats are at least making a stab at reducing the cost of living and that they have linked the high cost of living with tariff rates.

So the Ultimate Consumer, who was (Continued on Page Eight.)

WOMEN IN HOUSE TOP CHASE AFTER THIEF

Baltimore Residents Lead in Exciting Pursuit Which Ends in Arrest of Suspect.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 6.—Clad in their night clothes and thin wraps, Mrs. Kate Roessler and her niece, Miss Amelia Stahl, assisted in the chase of a burglar over a block of houses, following an attempt made by the intruder to gain entrance to their home last night. Patrolman Eilerman fired several times at the fugitive, but none of the bullets took effect. Among the pursuers, besides the policeman and the two women, were residents of almost the entire neighborhood, excited to a high pitch, many of them carrying firearms.

The man escaped by climbing from the roof of a house and passing in a rear alley.

Before Justice Levinson, in the Southern Police Court this morning, Brown was identified as the fugitive. He was committed for the action of the criminal court.

GIRL IS LOST FROM SOUTHERN ASYLUM

Sixteen-Year-Old Child Missing, Foul Play Is Feared by Pursuing Posses.

MOBILE, Ala., April 6.—Sixteen-year-old Ula Wood has mysteriously disappeared from the Protestant Orphan Asylum of this city. No clue has been found to give even the vaguest suggestion as to where she went, and foul play is feared.

The police department and many citizens are searching the city and its environs in an effort to locate the girl, who was last seen Friday on her way to school. She came to the asylum when very young and was pretty and attractive.

It is not believed she ran away from the institution, since she was always contented with her surroundings.

Chauffeurs Rescued By Boston Firemen

BOSTON, April 6.—Two chauffeurs imprisoned on the top floor of the burning O'Leary garage at 628 St. Nicholas street were rescued by firemen this morning and for a short time the adjoining Back Bay Hotel was endangered by the flames which drove the guests, mostly theatrical people, into the street, in scant attire.

A dozen automobiles were pulled from the lower floor by the firemen, but seven on the second floor were destroyed. The cause of the blaze is being investigated. The damage is estimated at about $25,000.

SEEK STRANGER IN EATON CASE

Man Seen at Home of Accused Woman Thought to Be Her Former Husband.

HE DISAPPEARED QUICKLY

Police Confident D. A. Ainsworth One Time Spouse of Widow, May Have Information.

BOSTON, April 6.—Police of Assinippi, Mass., Chicago, and other places are searching for D. Henry Ainsworth, divorced husband of Jennie May Eaton, who is charged with the murder of her husband, Admiral Eaton. It is thought that the mysterious stranger who visited the Eaton home last Sunday was Ainsworth. When he was discovered at the Eaton home, the stranger disappeared "cross lots" and has not been seen since.

The prosecuting attorneys, who are back of the search for Ainsworth, have nothing against him but merely want to learn something of the life of his former wife. It is known that Admiral Eaton once provided money for Ainsworth to leave town, but any other transactions between himself and his former wife and her husband are not known.

Wrote to Ainsworth.

It is known, however, that Mrs. Eaton wrote to Ainsworth several weeks ago and addressed the letter in the care of a publishing firm in Chicago. Whether or not Ainsworth can be found through a publisher has not been ascertained yet. The Chicago police are looking after the case.

Ainsworth is known to have been in the vicinity of Assinippi recently. A woman who recognized him asked him what he was doing there and he explained that he had come to visit his daughters, Dorothy Ainsworth and Mrs. June Ainsworth Keys several times. Since last Sunday, when the person supposed to be Ainsworth disappeared from the vicinity of the Eaton home very hurriedly, Ainsworth has not been seen.

What Police Want.

The chief items which the police hope to gain from Ainsworth are in regard to the financial affairs of his former wife. It is believed that Mrs. Eaton wrote to her former husband in Chicago and asked him to visit her the second Sunday after Admiral Eaton died and that, in response to this letter, Ainsworth came to Assinippi.

World's Diamonds Worth A Billion, Says Expert

PARIS, April 6.—Diamonds of the weight of 25-25 tons, which would fill a space of 100 cubic yards and have a value of nearly $1,000,000,000, have been taken from the earth from the earliest time to the present day, according to the estimate just made by M. de Launay, the well-known metallurgist.

These figures, however, only concern the stones before cutting, which reduces their weight volume by half but multiplies their value by five. A box three feet high, six feet wide, and eight long would thus hold the total world's output of these gems in their finished condition, and would have a market value of $1,500,000,000, according to present prices.

Washington Contralto Will Wed Boston Man

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Eleanor M. Doherty, daughter of Philip J. Doherty, who is connected with the Interstate Commerce Commission, to William W. Wadsworth, of Boston, has been received in Washington. The wedding took place three weeks ago, but was not announced publicly until today. Mr. Wadsworth is in the insurance business in Boston, and it is said that the romance which led to the marriage began out of an operation for a position in Mr. Wadsworth's office by Miss Doherty.

Woman Becomes Ill Upon Street Car

Mrs. E. M. Jamison, of 82 E. street, northeast became ill on a New York avenue car at Fourth and Massachusetts avenue northwest this afternoon. The car was halted long enough to get an ambulance for the stricken woman. At the Emergency hospital here she was diagnosed as acute indigestion.

Sparks From Chimney Fire Dwelling House

Sparks from the chimney at the home of William Love, at 129 Irving street, northeast, set fire to the roof of the dwelling today, causing a small damage. Mr. Love summoned the London Engine Company with an alarm from box 302. The firemen promptly quelled the blaze.

EXTRA SESSION READY FOR WORK

Few Vacant Places to Greet Leaders as Gavel Falls on Sixty-third Congress.

FIRST DAY JUST FORMAL

Tariff and Income Tax Bill to Be Introduced Tomorrow and Caucused on Tuesday.

The extra session of the Sixty-third Congress, recently called by President Wilson to take up tariff revision, will convene at noon tomorrow. When the wheels of legislation begin to grind it is expected they will continue to turn until far into the summer.

All manner of predictions are heard as to when the session will close. Not alone tariff, but other important matters are to be considered, although the scope of legislative achievement will depend on later developments.

Members Returning.

Members of House and Senate have been returning from their homes the last few days, and there will be nearly a full attendance in both houses when the session opens. Many of the old-timers will be missing, and new men will sit in their places. For the first time in nearly two decades, both houses are under Democratic control.

Business tomorrow will be largely formal. The Senate will be called to order by Vice President Marshall, and will conduct a brief routine session. Clerk South Trimble will call the House to order, and will preside until Champ Clark has been elected Speaker. He will then take the oath, Mr. Clark will be chosen Speaker immediately after the calling of the roll.

For the present, interest centers in the outcome of the tariff situation. The tariff and income tax bill, as framed by President Wilson and the Ways and Means Democrats, will be introduced by Chairman Underwood tomorrow and will be caucused on by the House Democrats Tuesday. It is believed that the bill will be adopted by the caucus without change, a minority report from the Ways and Means Committee will be presented by Congressman Serna Payne.

To Lose No Time.

The House expects to lose no time in getting down to work on the tariff and income tax bill. It will be considered under a rule and the House will be gagged before it takes the measure up. The real struggle over the bill will come in the Senate. Whether any of the schedules will be considered separately depends on whether an agreement can be reached as to the sugar and wool schedules.

The Banking and Currency Committee of both houses will at once give preliminary consideration to a bill in the House, if the tariff can be disposed of early, there is a possibility of currency legislation.

Two big appropriation bills, which will be considered by the House tomorrow, are the sundry civil bill and the Indian bill. Consideration of the sundry civil bill will open the way for much debate.

Progressive party members, who have organized a separate party, with Vice President Marshall as their candidate for Speaker, intend to be extremely active. They will start tomorrow by opposing the tariff bill. Congressman Young, elected from the twelfth Michigan district, according to the face of the returns.

Want McDonald.

The Bull Moose will fight to have William H. McDonald, a Progressive, seated, and will ask an investigation of the Young election.

In accordance with the action of their caucus last night, the Republicans will present "Jim" Mann, as candidate for Speaker.

A question of great interest in the House is whether the committee will be organized, or only a few necessary bills will be introduced. Strong opposition has developed to the Underwood plan of passing only a few committees.

What course Vice President Marshall will take concerning a document which has been circulating involving charges against a Western Democratic Senator alleged to have submitted a woman to a physical examination, is one of the interesting questions surrounding the opening of the special session. Strong efforts are being made to suppress the charges, which, if pressed, may result in an inquiry by the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee.

Calm and Satisfied.

The administration leaders who are backing Mrs. Horton look on calm and serene and confident as do those intimates of Mrs. Story, who know of the pledged votes. The confidence of Mrs. Horton's friends does not seem to be based altogether on hope, and is apparently too like the real thing to be feigned. Followers of the American Revolution who incline toward one of the three candidates are that a fearful disquiet is certainly in store for some one.

Explosion Victim
On Way to Recovery

Cecil Garrett, fifteen years old, of 42 Eleventh street, southeast, the victim of an explosion of blacklift powder, is rapidly improving at Casualty Hospital today. He will not lose the sight of either eye, according to the physicians there.

The police have obtained no information as yet as to the source of the powder that exploded in young Garrett's face. Garrett was given the powder by a playmate, who had a quantity of it. Several of the neighborhood boys were exploring small charges. Garrett set his upon the ground preparatory to exploding it, when it flashed into his face, inflaming his eyes. He will not be questioned by the police until he recovers from the shock.

British Admiral Asks Montenegro to Yield

CETTINE, Montenegro, April 6.—With a dozen warships of the international fleet now blockading the Montenegrin coast of Antivari, the admiral of the British men-of-war last night telegraphed to the Montenegrin premier from Cattaro requesting that Montenegro fulfill the wishes of the powers without further delay.

Baltimore Has Snow And Frosty Weather

BALTIMORE, April 6.—Unusually cold weather for the season and squalls of snow confronted Baltimoreans at morning and drove many would-be strollers back into warm homes.

Snow fell for about ten minutes, about 9 o'clock. A frost is promised for tonight.

Boston Hello Girls To Go on Strike Tomorrow

BOSTON, April 6.—A complete paralysis of the telephone service of Greater Boston as the result of a strike by the telephone operators is expected to follow the secret balloting which starts tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

These girls represent nine-tenths of the available operators of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company in the metropolitan district. A majority of the 2,200 are believed in favor of a strike. Desperate efforts are being made by the authorities to avert such a disaster as a cessation of telephone service would bring to the 2,000,000 people and the multiple business interests of the affected district.

Two Snow Flurries Cause Residents To Fear Winter's Return

Two slight flurries of snow appeared in Washington today, the first at 11 o'clock in the morning, and a second and briefer one shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Both were of short duration. The flakes were unusually large. Falling as they did from a cloudy sky which a few moments before each flurry was clear, convinced the city that a return of winter had taken place.

The flurries were too light, however, to create any damage to the budding trees and park flowers.

Leaders in Suffrage Advance on Capitol Tomorrow

Left To Right—Mrs. E. C. Kalbfus, Wife of Lieutenant Commander Kalbfus, U. S. N.; Miss Elizabeth Davidson, of Pennsylvania; and Miss Sibyl Brown, of New York.

D. A. R. CANDIDATES AWAIT BALLOT TEST

All Feel Sure of Election to Post of President General at Annual Meeting.

Leaders in the D. A. R. race for presidential general post today adding up columns of votes expected at the Continental Congress next week. The columns included votes pledged, expected, besought, and hoped for, and sums apparently pleasing were realized by the friends of all three candidates. The obvious fact that in two out of three calculations, there must be some one in some one else's column did not detract the equality of Mrs. William Cunningham Story, Mrs. John Horton Miller, or Mrs. Charles B. Bryan.

Mrs. Bryan does not say she has enough votes to elect her, and in this her intimates differ from the calculations of the others. Mrs. Bryan and her friends have high hopes, however, that she will be the help of either or both of the others. The fifth opinion, that of the "hush" girls, is that neither Mrs. Story nor Mrs. Horton seems to have many more than either Mrs. Horton or Mrs. Miller, and her counts have been saying for weeks that she has pledged enough signed, sealed, and delivered to insure her election.

Are Delighted.

Furthermore the friends of Mrs. Story are openly delighted at the feeling manifested by the friends of Mrs. Bryan toward "the administration." Mrs. Bryan formerly was one of the administration leaders. When Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the president general, whose term is about to expire, announced that she would support no one as her successor, Mrs. Bryan's friends were mildly disappointed for they had hoped that Mrs. Scott would choose Mrs. Bryan.

Mrs. Scott has not departed from her attitude, but seven of the board of managers of the D. A. R., all closely associated with Mrs. Scott, recently came out in an open letter for Mrs. Horton. This infuriated the Bryan women, who declared Mrs. Scott must have known of and countenanced the letter to the extent of not interfering.

On the other hand, some friends of Mrs. Story are not as enthusiastic as others. They know of the pledged votes, but they are mindful of past elections, when all looked rosier for Mrs. Story, and something happened.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

PRESIDENT WEARY, USES DAY TO REST

Lines of Care Show in His Face and Strain of Work Is Easily Apparent.

President Woodrow Wilson is having a much needed day of rest. His only engagement today was morning worship at the Second Presbyterian Church, Twenty-second and Q streets northwest, where the Rev. Andrew R. Bird is pastor.

Upon returning from church he had luncheon and then settled down for the quietest Sabbath afternoon and evening of his stay in Washington.

With him at church today were Mrs. Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones. The Wilson girls are out of the city.

The President today showed marked signs of the mental and physical strain to which he was subjected the past week. Today he denied himself to visitors, and tomorrow morning he will have only a few.

President Wilson was completely tired out, and today it was noted as he sped away to church in a White House car that the lines of his face were deeper and the fullness and the freshness of a month ago were replaced by the traces of overwork.

Secretary Tumulty appeared at the Executive Office for a brief time before noon, but only to attend to correspondence which piled up over night. He turned away visitors, hurriedly attended to matters of importance, and then closed the office for the afternoon.

The President, in selecting the Second Presbyterian Church, followed out his rule of going to a place where the congregation is not large and where simplicity rather than ostentation is followed. He wanted his day of rest to be as simple and quiet as possible from the church attendance to the time he retires tonight.

SHAKEN BY FLOODS, BUILDING COLLAPSES

CINCINNATI, April 6.—The three-story double brick building at 75 and 76 Plum street, weakened by the flood, collapsed early this morning. For a time there was much excitement in the neighborhood, as it was believed that thirty tenants had perished in the ruins. Magdalena Petri and her three daughters resided in the building, and owned a bakery on the lower floor. They were dug out of the ruins, seriously, but not fatally.

Twenty others had fled from the building in time to save their lives, warned by the creaking walls. Fire Chief Bunker had condemned the structure, and ordered tenants to remove yesterday.

PRIEST SAYS PRISON MEN SPIED ON HIM

There will be 311 women in the parade bearing "messages from home," which will storm the Capitol at 11:45 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Bearing petitions from every Congressional district in the country, they will turn these over to Senators and Congressmen in the greatest appeal for votes for women ever made in any country.

Before this army swoops down on the heart of the Nation's Capital, it will hold a mass meeting at 10 o'clock in the Columbia Theater. There prominent women will sound the appeal of suffrage.

Afterward, unfurling their Votes-for-Women banners, under the leadership of a band, the messengers from home will proceed through F street to Eleventh street, thence to Pennsylvania avenue. The Police Department has promised adequate protection in an effort to prevent any occurrences such as (Continued on Page Eight.)

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

WOMAN EJECTED IN GOTHAM DANCE WAR

Police Carry Her to Street When She Defies Them From Top of Cafe Table.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With the carrying out of a woman guest from Rector's shortly before 1 o'clock today, Mayor Gaynor's vigorous police campaign to put the lid on the Tenderloin got started in earnest.

In spite of the protests of owners, Inspector Butler and his men enforced the edict that all restaurants and saloons close at 1 o'clock in the morning. The Saturday night crowd was in full swing when the detectives entered Rector's. About 50 persons were dining, and the woman who was later ejected jumped on a table and defied the police. The turkey-trotting patrons were forced to stop.

There also was trouble in ejecting 40 diners from the Teking restaurant, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, and in Churchhill's.

Not since New Year has Broadway presented an aspect like that of last night.

In the Tenderloin district Broadway was black with people, many of them wielding rattles and blowing horns. Boisterous students, carrying a sign which read "We Are For The Cabarets," marched up and down in Times square. "Down With Gaynor," "Give us the Cabarets" sounded until after midnight.

In Buzonab's restaurant in West Thirty-ninth street, the orchestra stopped playing until a couple had ceased objectionable dipping and gliding.

One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the descent of Captain Martin upon a bench dancer given at the "Rector's" "Deep Sea Hotel" at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The dance was to end at 11 o'clock, but the police wanted to see the dancer. The dancer was a girl named Sam Novoselski, of the crew. The guests had retired. Meanwhile Mayor Gaynor has received twenty-four reports against various places where tango, tea and turkey-trotting form the chief diversions. He may revoke their licenses.

SUFFRAGE HOSTS TO STORM CAPITOL WITH PETITIONS TOMORROW

Women Will Parade Down Pennsylvania Avenue. Have Been Assured of Police Protection—President Tells Leaders March Disgrace Will Not Be Repeated.

MEMORIALS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE NATION WILL DEMAND RIGHT TO VOTE

The American suffragettes will, for the second time, march through Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow, this time to the United States Capitol, where they will storm the upper and lower House in their fight for votes for women.

Every known obstacle in the way of their march has been removed. It is generally understood that surging crowds which marred their first march down that historic thoroughfare inauguration eve will not molest the suffragettes tomorrow. Ample police protection has been promised.

President Wilson took a personal hand today in clearing away the final obstacle to the full success of the big suffrage pageant tomorrow.

He declared there was not the slightest objection to the women of the Government service signing the petitions with which the invasion of Capitol Hill will be accomplished as the climax of the parade.

Makes Point Clear.

He made this point clear and unmistakable in a message to suffrage headquarters, so that no women in the